

THE WORLD OVER

REINDEER HERDER ENDS FIVE-YEAR VIGIL

EDMONTON—Like a man from another world Andrew Bahr, 70-year-old reindeer herder, reached Edmonton from the far north Sunday. Like a man from another world—a world of ice and snow and blinding blizzards that force for days at a time along the Arctic Coast.

Maintains Silence

At 4:20 p.m. Sunday at the Edmonton airport he stepped from an airplane piloted by Arlie McMillen, of the Canadian Airways, and for the first time in five years saw a white man's city—a city of modern homes and streets, motor cars and electric trams.

The little stooped man, almost as broad as he is tall had completed a task that has been hailed as an epic of the north—the managed trek of a huge herd of reindeer for 1,800 miles along the ice-berried Arctic coast from Alaska to the north. Reindeer, along the Mackenzie delta, established by the Canadian government to provide food and clothing for impoverished Canadian eskimos.

Attired in a blue canvas jumper over his fur, cloth cap and fur mukluks, Bahr was met at the airport by his lawyer, Edward D. Fisher, newspapermen and photographers. He spoke not a word of greeting to anyone and appeared for a time to suit the description of "a man from another world."

It was as if the words spoken by those around him were in a strange tongue.

His lawyer handed him a letter. "This is from your wife, Andy," he took it mechanically. It was a message from his wife in Seattle whom he has not seen in five years.

POSITION OF WORLD WHEAT TRADE

The Bromhall estimates for world wheat import requirements for 1934-35 is 562 million bushels. Up to March 11, 1935, 325 million bushels were shipped—an average of 10 million bushels weekly. If the Bromhall estimate is to be fulfilled 231 million bushels will have to be shipped from March 11 to July, 1935. This is an average of 11.6 million bushels weekly.

Australian shipments from the 1934 crop have brought down the balance available for export and carry over to 53 million bushels, while the Argentine balance available for the same purpose is 128 million. These figures suggest that Canada should participate heavily in dispatch of the 231 million bushels required to fulfill the Bromhall estimate.

A bright spot in the international wheat trade is the dependence of the demand from non-European countries. Australia has been the heaviest exporter to these countries, this relieving the pressure on European markets. The increase in the price of Australian export during the past few weeks suggests that supplies are diminishing rapidly there.

KING GEORGE V. SILVER JUBILEE CANCER FUND FOR CANADA

Readers of The Chronicle are asked to give their generous support to the King George V. Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund for Canada, now being conducted throughout the Dominion.

During 1933 there were 16,446 deaths from cancer. In 1934 there were 7,611 deaths showing how the death rate is rapidly increasing. Cancer today is the second leading cause of death, being second only to heart disease.

It is essential that everyone in Canada should enter into the fight against this dread disease and therefore that every individual who can should contribute.

The fund will be used for research as well as to help those already suffering from cancer.

Readers are asked to send their contributions to Lady Tesoro, Ottawa, who will acknowledge it by means of a card bearing the photographs of Their Majesties, the King and Queen.

Envelopes, addressed to Lady Tesoro, and marked "Cancer Fund" will be carried in the mails free of stamp.

NEW C.P.R. SCHEDULE TO MOVE AUTOS ACROSS BIG BEND GAP

Filling the gap of the uncompleted section of the Trans-Canada highway between Big Bend and Revelstoke B.C., the C.P.R. has announced a special daily service in moving motor cars over this stretch and thus enabling tourists to make an all-Canadian tour from New York to the Pacific coast, or return.

YOUR NEIGHBORS

When you came into the world, it was the neighbors who showed your parents by raising your first smile.

Now that you are a man, with a citizen's responsibilities, it is your neighbors who help carry the responsibilities and who stand by to help you in your defects and to cheer you in your victories.

When you die your neighbors will shed tears and sing a few songs and say a prayer for you. When you have a favor to bestow even though it may be the favor of your patronage, wouldn't it be good sportsmanship to bestow that favor upon your neighbors?

In a thousand ways you are partner in business with every man in your home town. Your interests are common. If all your neighbors would fail, you wouldn't remain in business a week. If all your neighbors succeed, you almost certainly will succeed with them.

So, when you find yourself in need of a monkey wrench, a pair of nails, shoes, automobile, groceries, etc. or an insurance policy—to buy it from your neighbors is the next best thing from buying it from yourself.—Wells Mirror

THE NEW IMPROVED MILLS WIRE WEEPER

With Extra Heavy Springs

Keep Up With Your Neighbors

Modern farmers all over Western Canada are equipping their farms with MILLS WIRE WEEPERS—several have already been sold in Carbon district this Spring. The MILLS WIRE WEEPER has been thoroughly tested and proved right in your district. Our agent, Mr. K. Schuler, is an enthusiastic owner of a MILLS WIRE WEEPER. He has tried it on his farm and proved that it does what we claim, that is, it kills Canada Thistle, grass, buckhorn, rose hock and other weeds.

THE REVOLVING CABLES do the trick by taking hold of the weeds and slowly pulling them out, so as to lay them flat on the ground exposed to the sun and wind, where they dry out and die. See this modern weeding machine in operation! Mr. K. Schuler, Box 273 Carbon will gladly arrange a demonstration for you. Or write for full particulars to:

RIVERSIDE SALES CO. CALGARY ALBERTA

EDMONTON—Major J. H. Douglas, noted British economist who has been engaged under a two year contract as reconstruction advisor to the Alberta government will leave England for this province on April 26, according to word received here by Premier P. G. Reid.

By the terms of his appointment Major Douglas must visit Alberta for four periods during the two-year contract, each period not to be less than three weeks.

While acting as principal economic adviser he will be exactly in the position of a high-grade civil servant and will not be concerned either with parties or politics.

Any change of government in the province will find him equally ready and willing to serve the succeeding government.

His duty will be to advise the cabinet when called upon and the cabinet is free to accept or reject his advice at its discretion.

Major Douglas, however, is expected to have the right to reply by press and radio in criticism of recommendations he makes. He will spend a few days in Ottawa en route.

RED BUS LINES OPEN OWN OFFICE IN DRUMHELLER

The Red Bus Lines have opened up their own Bus Station in the building 2 doors east of the Whitehouse Hotel, on Riverside Ave. Drumheller, recently vacated by their former agent, W. R. Broun of the Drumheller Bus and Taxi Co.

M. A. Root, who has been chief conductor for the Red Bus Lines in Carbon for the past few months, has been transferred to Drumheller to look after the company's business there.

All business relative to the bus company will be handled at this office in the future. Their phone number is 344, Drumheller.

DUST STORMS THAT ARE DUST STORMS

The Lethbridge Herald produces the following incidents from Oklahoma to show that there are some places where the dust really does get in folks' hair. Down in Oklahoma:

A horse fell into a tree overnight and was found hanging the next morning, no sign having shown the road on which he was standing.

An old bachelor humped the sand and dust which slipped through the kitchen, while holding pots and pans in it until they were sore and spin.

A traveler reported seeing a tumble tree 100 feet in the air, burning.

Abbas, their noses irritated by the dust, trembled themselves to death. Jaybirds flew backward to keep the wind out of their eyes.

Willie—"Dad, what do they mean by terrible?" Dad—"That refers to arguments advanced by the other side."

Let Us Do Your Printing?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to only offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them. Business men, remember that the home paper is constantly paying the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

Is Democracy A Failure?

Articles appearing in this column from week to week have, over a considerable period of time, had two main objects, to convey information and to provoke constructive thought on the part of the reader. At the same time an earnest endeavor has been made to refrain from discussion of questions which are the subject of partisan political controversy or of sharp differences of opinion arising out of racial or religious views. In the present disturbed state of the world, when practically every financial, economic and social question has become part and parcel of some political creed it is no easy matter for any writer, unless he confines himself to meaningless platitudes, not to appear to take sides and express views which others may interpret as somewhat partisan in character one way or another. Notwithstanding this difficulty an honest effort has been made in this column to steer clear of partisanship while at the same time in discussing matters of public interest to give some point and value to these articles.

The writer is firmly convinced that what is needed at all times, and never more so than at present, is adherence to well grounded sound principles, the dissemination of accurate information, and clear constructive thinking on the part of each individual citizen. A demagogue may be clever and interesting and able to sway a mob, but he is not a safe and constructive leader and a mob is a dangerous thing. This week we propose to submit a few questions, but do not intend to answer them. Rather our object is to have the reader answer them for himself or herself. In other words, do their own thinking.

General Hugh S. Johnson, until recently director of Roosevelt's NIRA programme, stated the other day that "democracy is the best government in the world for peace and for the people." Is it the best government in the world for a great war or a great crisis? Is this true, and if it is true what does such a statement or slogan imply? Does it mean that the people as a system of government is right, but that the people who constitute the democracy, and therefore the government, are unreliable and cannot be trusted? Is it the system of government that is the problem, or is it the people who are the problem? When things are proceeding smoothly and the people have a minimum of worries, they are content, and the government is content. But when a crisis develops these same people become panic stricken, emotional and reckless, ready to act precipitately without taking thought of the ultimate consequences of their action.

Does General Johnson's statement, if true, imply that the nation of the world should abandon democracy as a system of government and turn to more autocratic and dictatorial forms of government, thereby relinquishing the political freedom which is now theirs, and entrusting to such more autocratic governments full control at all times, in peace and in war, as well as in times of war, emergency and crisis?

If democracy is not to be abandoned, and we are not to accept Communism, Fascism, Socialism, or other forms of government which involve abandonment of existing democratic political rights and freedom, how is democracy to be made more efficient for the world at large? How can it be thrown into the discard in times of trouble and emergency and resuscitated and made to function efficiently the moment the crisis passes?

It will be admitted that with the coming of what has been termed the Industrial Revolution, and the consequent changes in the social and economic life of the world, there has been an extraordinary rise in wage levels and living standards. With this rise of the economic status of the worker there has been an even more pronounced rise in his social and political status. Public schools, newspapers, labor unions, and other organizations have been created, and have established the political power of the workers and primary producers. The universal ballot, without property or educational qualification, have given control of government to the masses of the people.

Commenting on this development a professor of economics in one of the great American universities has written: "The masses have been given the right to progress. This power has been obtained, naturally enough, in advance of economic knowledge. Untrained theorists and self-seeking politicians may guide and direct the masses, but the masses want to throw back this tide of democracy. Nobody can. But it needs to learn self-control and to gain understanding. It has nothing to lose."

In this professor of economics' theory, is democracy endangered by lack of self-control and understanding on the part of the very people who have the most to lose and suffer if democracy is lost to the world, and who have the most to gain and enjoy if democracy is maintained and made to function in times of emergency and crisis as well as in times of peace and prosperity? In a world, are our present political rights and power under democracy to be relinquished at a time of stress and emergency, and to overthrow and destroy democracy itself? Are people going to prove the truth of General Johnson's observation that democracy is not a safe system in times of crisis?

How can people be taught self-control in times of emergency? How can the tendency to panic be overcome? How can understanding be given to the masses so that they will refrain from panic and exercise self-control and thus overcome the crisis and prevent the taking of disastrous action? How, when there are always demagogues, agitators, self-seekers whether in politics or other spheres, ever ready to inflame and mislead the masses, are these masses of voters to-day to control all governments, going to be educated to think for themselves, refrain from being influenced by mob psychology, and exercise self-control through the obtaining of sound knowledge and an understanding of basic, irrefutable principles?

Is the task too great for democracy, that is, for mankind itself? Or must mankind ever be in a state of confusion, that is, struggling under the centuries and make confusion that, being incapable of settling things in their own hands, they are forced to submit to the rule of a few to trust and place the power which the masses now possess in the hands of a few to exercise full power, direction and control over them? Finally, if this is done, will the uneducated masses be content to have it so, or will the struggle of man be commenced all over again?

This is the acute question facing the world to-day? Democracy itself must and will answer it. Will that answer be for its own preservation, or will it be for self-destruction?

Doctors advise this natural corrective for Constipation!

Not a drug . . . safe, effective, economical!

Stop your stomach, bad breath, headaches and all constipation life. Quaker Bran is the only food that does it easily, cheaply with Quaker Bran.

Quaker Bran, the result of the wheat, is so soft it cannot irritate. Yet it is effective. It works with nature to produce normal, healthy bowel movement . . . perspiring the intestinal muscles to normal activity.

Remember, Quaker Bran is different from all other cereals. It is pure bran, uncooked—untreated—unadulterated. For these reasons it is definitely rich in mineral and vitamin content.

Serve it with your regular cereal each morning or in muffins, cookies, etc. There is a recipe book in every package.

Bells Rung Electrically

Italian Villagers Looked For Miracle Until Mystery Solved

When they heard the bells of the little church of Santa San Pietro ringing for a number of days, tonight, apparently by themselves, the villagers of Luca, Italy, thought it portended a miracle. The clappers of the bells were tied and the parish priest locked the bell tower and put the key in his pocket. But still the bells went on ringing. Finally the local electrician discovered the bells were being rung electrically as the overhead wire for the tramway line between Luca and Maggiano had come into contact with the bell tower. Now the villagers are able to sleep again.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So was his rheumatism that his friends declared he would never work again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong. How he says—

At seventy years of age, last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not brush my hair nor wash myself. People said I could never work any more. I am working harder than a young man to-day. Thanks, many thanks, to Kruschen's.

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen's are the potassium salts of uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these uric acid crystals through the natural channels. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines, and thereby cause the body to eliminate, not only of uric acid, but of other poisons which undermine the health.

Chauffeur, Cook, And Maid Inherit Mansion Of Mistress

A chauffeur and his wife, a cook and an "upstairs girl" are masters and mistresses of an estate at Newton, Mass., in which a few days ago they saw fit to reside.

The will of their late employer, Mrs. Jessie A. Goddard, 80, left them the stately mansion to do with as they saw fit.

Hits to the estate were William Wilson, for 25 years Mrs. Goddard's chauffeur; his wife, Annie; Margaret Macaulay, cook; and Miss Jane Douglas, maid.

Other bequests, totalling $200,000, were distributed to friends, former servants, charities, churches and distant relatives.

SWears To Truth OF STATEMENT

Mr. Sam Sansone, 44 Front Street, Toronto, tells in a sworn statement that he has been a victim of the "Fruit-A-Live" fruit and vegetable diet for the past year, and that he has suffered badly from indigestion. He wants other sufferers to be helped as he was. This is why he gives a statement of his experience.

In and order that everyone may be convinced of its absolute truth, Mr. Sansone made his statement under oath before a notary. In fact, it reads: "For a long time I suffered badly from indigestion. I tried everything but I continued to get worse. A friend of mine recommended Fruit-A-Live. After taking it for a few days, my indigestion was entirely well and could eat anything without any pain or after effects."

Copy of Mr. Sansone's statement sworn to before a notary, will be sent to you free of charge. Write to: FRUIT-A-LIVE, 100, Queen St. W., Toronto.

Cheerful Factors

Moderate Improvement Shown Is Expected To Continue

The moderate improvement reported a year ago may be expected to continue," the fourth annual "Farm Outlook for Saskatchewan" prepared by Dr. William Allen and Professor E. C. Hogg of the department of farm management of the University of Saskatchewan, predicted. While doubtless the outlook is likely to rise than decline, some improvement over last year in prices for beef cattle, dairy cows and butter, rising prices for sheep and work horses, and a rise in wool towards the end of the year, are some of the cheerful factors indicated.

Prof. MacLeod, Co-Discoverer Of Insulin, Dies In Scotland

Prof. John James Richard MacLeod, 58, co-discoverer of insulin, who spent a number of years teaching at the University of Toronto and the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, died recently at Aberdeen, Scotland.

With Sir Frederick Banting of the University of Toronto, Prof. MacLeod won the Nobel prize in medicine for the discovery of insulin in 1923.

Prof. MacLeod returned to Aberdeen seven years ago to take the chair of physiology at Aberdeen University.

Lives of thousands were saved by the insulin treatment for diabetes which Sir Frederick, Professor MacLeod and Dr. Charles H. Best discovered.

Prof. MacLeod was born at Cluny, near Dundee, Scotland, son of Robert MacLeod, and was educated at the Aberdeen Grammar school, and at Marischal College, Aberdeen. After a short period of post-graduate study in London and on the continent, he came to the United States. At the age of 27 he was appointed professor of physiology at the Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Handles Letters Quickly

Robot Sorter Has Been Tested At Brighton, England

In future, most letter-sorting may be entrusted to a machine capable of handling letters three times as quickly as by hand. This robot sorter, which has been tried out at Brighton, is like a huge typewriter. Letters pass into it on a running belt. When the practised eye of the operator sees Leads, for instance, he presses the Leads key, when Glasgow key, automatically fall into their proper receptacles. Using Sun For Cooking

Solar Heat Collector Shown At Meeting Of Scientists

A device for making the sun do a part of man's work was shown to the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the beginning of its winter meeting in Pittsburgh. It is a solar heat collector which, in twenty minutes, develops temperature in excess of 400 degrees Fahrenheit. The inventor is the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, Dr. C. G. Abbot. The device can be used for ordinary cooking purposes. Dr. Abbot has been using it on Mount Wilson (California) for the generation of steam for power. It is hoped that ultimately it can be made to drive large steam engines at a practicable cost. The apparatus employs a number of small mirrors fixed at right angles to the earth's axis and mounted on a frame which will turn on an axle parallel to the earth's axis. There are a number of tubes filled with black oil and protected from loss of heat by double vacuum jackets. These transmit the collected heat to a reservoir of oil, and in this reservoir ovens are inserted for cooking purposes or a tubular boiler for generating steam.

Cattle exported from Canada to Great Britain in 1932 (from January 1 to February 21, numbered 4,781).

Approximately 50,000 Canadian and other land covers are in the maple sugar business.

Germany, Scotland and England are all waging war on muskrats.

"THOUGH LOST TO SIGHT TO MEMORY DEAR"

In an attempt to reflect glory upon the U. F. A. government for "economies" affected since it assumed power supporters are quoting figures having to do with government advertising. Pointing out that $62,514.29 was the sum spent for advertising in 1921, the government advisers quote the policy sum of $4,912.44 as being the amount expended in the same direction in 1934.
The U. F. A. government evidently considers this a wonderful achievement instead of bad business.

We are forced to recollect the fate of other well-known products of hulky days whose advertising, adver-tisations were trimmed to the point of extinction. Sapollo, Pyle's Pentone and Warner's Safe Cuts were at one time household words. Advertising was dispensed with and these products are today but a dim memory.

The U. F. A. government shows scant faith in the power of judicious publicity. It runs counter to the policy of successful business in this respect.
A continuance of this course may easily witness the writing of these lines as an appropriate epitaph:
"Sweetheart good-bye,
Though lost to sight, to memory
dear"
